

Mainstream Media Bias

ABC TV is a wonderful organisation with many programs one won't find on other channels.

Having said that, the political bias on ABC current affairs and chat group shows is without restraint. There is not one ABC presenter who presents any conservative views. Surely this breaches their at least their "social contract" if not their own constitution. They seem to cater to a discrete group of people that identify with left/green groups rather than the broader community who basically do not vote Green at elections.

This also applies to news bulletins where they have "comment" inserted into the news, mostly of a political nature and always of a green/left bias. It's like they are trying to educate watchers to move away from conservative politics. I grieve for the respected ABC of old.

Nine's newspapers and TV current affairs and 10's "The Project" are all similar offenders. Channel 7, at least, does not bleat much political content, thank God. Sky News on Win is somewhat the opposite but at least there is something on TV one can watch without constant green/left attack.
