Additional comments

I think that a class license is a NO GO.. At least if we pay a fee we should have some come back regarding interference. An Armature license would be covered by the ITU, which is world wide. Just listen to the CB band and hear all the NON licensed operators running HIGH power and have signals at least 12 kcs wide. Playing. Playing music and talking over every body saying my 250 wats will out run your 12 watt station. Brian Farrar VK2AH
