Section 5: Privacy statement

The Privacy Act 1988 (Cth) (the Privacy Act) imposes obligations on the ACMA in relation to the collection, security, quality, access, use and disclosure of personal information. These obligations are detailed in the Australian Privacy Principles.

The ACMA may only collect personal information if it is reasonably necessary for, or directly related to, one or more of the ACMA's functions or activities.

The purpose for which the ACMA is collecting the personal information contained in this form is to assist the ACMA in the performance of its telecommunications regulatory functions. In particular, the information gathered in this form will be used:

- > to enable the ACMA to undertake its obligations to assess, collect and recover charges under Division 7 of Part 3 of the Telecommunications (Consumer Protection and Service Standards) Act 1999
- > to allow the ACMA to maintain a centralised Customer Relationship Management system for the secure storage of licensee information in relation to the designated services
- > to facilitate communications with the ACMA in order for licensees to meet their reporting and payment requirements in relation to the designated services
- > for the purposes of issuing statutory notices to licensees under the Telecommunications Act 1997 and the Telecommunications (Consumer Protection and Service Standards) Act 1999.

The ACMA may from time to time disclose personal information contained in this form to the Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Communications in connection with the regional broadband scheme .

The ACMA will not use the information for any other purpose, nor will we disclose it, unless we have your consent or we are otherwise permitted to do so under the Privacy Act.

Further information on the Privacy Act and the ACMA's Privacy Policy is available at www.acma.gov.au/privacypolicy. The Privacy Policy contains details about how you may access personal information about you that is held by the ACMA and seek the correction of such information. It also explains how you may make a complaint about a breach of the Privacy Act and how the ACMA will deal with such a complaint.

Should you have any questions in this regard please contact the ACMA's privacy contact officer on 1800 226 667 or by email at privacy@acma.gov.au.
