Subject: Feedback on Commercial Television Industry Code of Practice

Message Body:

Commercial television advertisements relative to alcohol that normalise "having a drink" for any occasion needs to be banned like cigarettes and smoking was.

Australia in my opinion has a bogun like attitude towards drinking, you must drink for any occasion in fact drinking at times seems mandatory.

Getting pissed in Australia seems like a rite of passage.....and a very Australian thing to do.....

[REDACTED] passed away from alcoholism and watching someone you love die slowly from liver and kidney shutting down, internal bleeding, brain damage from his body unable to remove toxins, pneumonia, malnourished - was something I will never forget and at every opportunity I can from now on I will advocate for less alcohol in your face advertising and normalising drinking alcohol at every chance the alcohol industry gets. [REDACTED]

JUST STOP and ban alcohol advertising - it was possible for cigarettes why not possible to ban alcohol.
