Subject: Domestic violence is a wrecker, and alcohol is an axe. No extension of alcohol advertisements.

Message Body:

After 3 decade of working as a GP, I know that alcohol and gambling are two activities that have a massive harvest of harm, and they often go together. Young people are being groomed into harmful addictive behaviours on every side. There is no justification, and certainly not that of monetary gain, for this predictable and preventable abuse. As a community we should be able to trust all major institutions to consider community safety, particularly with regards to children, in their decision making. There is evidence that exposure to advertising of alcohol and gambling to young people increases their use of both. This is immoral. Our children are facing a tough future with climate change and geopolitical mayhem, disinformation and natural disasters. They don't need to be saddled with alcoholism, debt and family dysfunction as well. Please take serious responsible action and do not extend advertising of alcohol or gambling at all. it is distressing enough a it is.
