Subject: Advertising for Alcohol and Gambling

Message Body:

We don't have adverts for cigarettes anymore and frankly we shouldn't be advertising alcohol or gambling. As a nurse working in Mental Health drug and alcohol I see the impact Alcohol is having not just from a health perspective but from the social aspects of domestic and family violence the impact on children of parents with substance use issues.

People trying to recover and abstain from alcohol are actually triggered having to see an advert for the same potentially resulting in relapse. It is irresponsible of Tv networks to promote something that results in increased pressure and breakdowns to our to our health care system, emergency services and society as a whole. The amount of children I have seen going without so mum and dad have booze or drugs is heartbreaking.
