

News of the week

Congratulations [REDACTED]

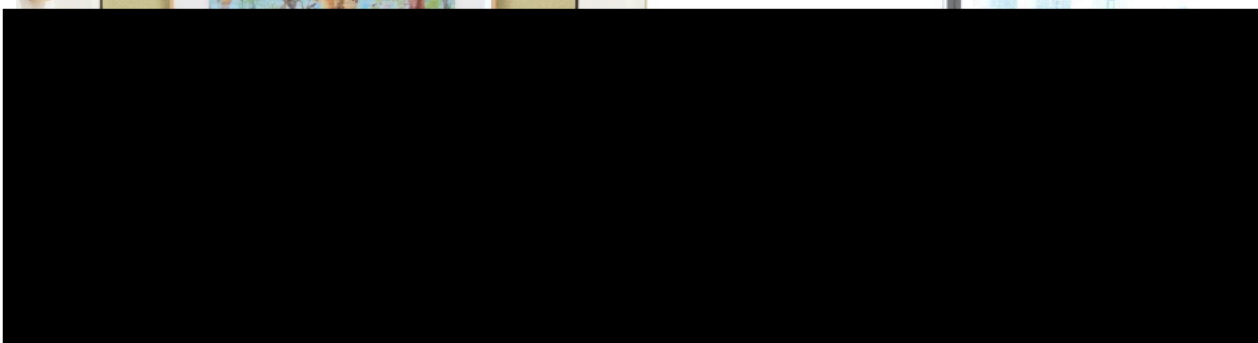

11/10/2023

We celebrate our first ever ACMA graduate from the Indigenous Australian Government Development Program. [REDACTED] was joined in person and online by her family and colleagues for a celebration in the Sydney office.

This is the first year the ACMA has participated in the Indigenous Australian Government Development Program (IAGDP) and [REDACTED] was our first participant.

The IAGDP is a targeted employment and development program for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, providing them with the opportunity to launch their careers in the Australian Public Service.

[REDACTED]'s work at the ACMA

Left: [REDACTED]

colleagues, [REDACTED] Over the course of the program, [REDACTED] undertook a combination of on-the-job training and formal learning and development activities, including a Diploma of Government through the Canberra Institute of Technology.

[REDACTED] completed 2 rotations, starting in the Content Safeguards branch in the Investigations section and then in the Human Resources and Communications branch in the HR Strategy team. This has given [REDACTED] a broad overview of some of our functions and our corporate services.

In addition to the program work, [REDACTED] also joined the Reconciliation Action Plan working group.

Managing complaints and assessing The Block

In the Content Investigations section, [REDACTED] was assessing and responding to complaints about broadcasts on TV and radio. This included assessing several episodes of the 2022 season of The Block against the classification requirements.

Coordinating 2023 NAIDOC Week activities

[REDACTED]'s second rotation was in the HR Strategy team in the Human Resources and Communication Branch, where helped coordinate of the 2023 NAIDOC Week activities and facilitated the Indigenous art workshops, where participants created a piece of their own art based on their individual stories.

The art workshop sessions received great feedback from the participants and the HR Strategy team was grateful for [REDACTED] new and innovative ideas, her commitment to acknowledging and celebrating indigenous events and for sharing her stories.

New season of The Block and RAP work

Now that the program has come to an end, [REDACTED] has returned to Content Investigations section, who is very happy she's returned to the team.

And as timing would have it, one of the first jobs waiting for her was to assess episodes of the 2023 season of The Block.

[REDACTED] is also continuing her participation in the Reconciliation Action Plan (RAP) working group.

In the time [REDACTED] has been with the ACMA, she has demonstrated enthusiasm, professionalism and integrity and has been a valued member of both teams.

████ will be travelling to Canberra at the end November to take part in a graduation ceremony alongside other participants in the program.

Congratulations █████!