Dear ██████████

Contravention of the Australian Interactive Gambling Act 2001 – Dama N.V.

The Australian Communications and Media Authority (the ACMA) is responsible for investigating and taking enforcement action for contraventions of the Australian Interactive Gambling Act 2001 (the IGA).

The ACMA has recently completed an investigation into the service made available at <https://www.fortuneplay.com>. The ACMA found that Dama N.V. contravened subsections 15(2A) and 15AA(3) of the IGA by:

- > providing a prohibited interactive gambling service to Australian customers
- > providing an unlicensed regulated interactive gambling service to Australian customers.

On 17 December 2025, the ACMA advised Dama N.V. of the ACMA's preliminary contravention findings. No response was received.

The ACMA finalised the investigation on 9 January 2026. The ACMA issued a Formal Warning to Dama N.V. under section 64A of the IGA on 13 January 2026.

If Dama N.V. continues to provide prohibited and/or unlicensed regulated interactive gambling services to persons physically located in Australia, the ACMA may take further action.

I have attached a copy of the Formal Warning issued to Dama N.V. as well as the key provisions of the IGA.

We have brought this matter to your attention as the online gaming licence register on the Curaçao Gaming Authority website indicates that Dama N.V. was granted an online gaming licence on 24 June 2024. We understand that findings of illegal activity relating to entities licenced by the Curaçao Gaming Authority may be relevant to you. We would appreciate if you could forward this Formal Warning to Dama N.V. to ensure that it has been brought to their attention.

If you have any questions on the above, please contact me at igtaskforce@acma.gov.au.

Thank you for your engagement in this process.
